By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate approval shoved a $4,508,000,000 tax boosting bill well on its way to final enactment today but it's apparently only the forerunner of an even deeper dig next January into taxpayers' pocketbooks.

The Senate wrapped up the stop-gap money raising bill by voice vote passage last night, after a 10-hour session of clubbing down most of a long series of amendments.

The bill now must be cleared through a Senate-House conference but that may not take place for ten days because of a long House Labor Day vacation.

The bill's sponsors had to give some ground. They agreed to write in a promise to cap an excess profits tax on corporations next January and make it effective back either to October 1 or July 1, 1950.

As the bill passed the Senate, it would hike individual income taxes by about $2,700,000,000 a year. It would add $1,500,000,000 in corporation taxes and pick up more millions by plugging loopholes in the tax laws.

For individuals, the first effects of the new measure—if it gets final approval of Congress—would be an increase in withholding levies on wages and salaries. They would jump from the present 15 per cent to 18 per cent on October 1, if the measure becomes law in time.

Government tax-collecting agencies have been worried that delay in passing the tax boost bill might give them insufficient time to get out forms for the increased withholding taxes.

For GI's in combat zones, the bill would grant a complete exemption on their service pay. Their officers would draw $200 a month pay tax free, but pay taxes on the rest.

Corporation taxes, boosted from a maximum 38 per cent to 45 per cent, also would be speeded up. Corporations would have to pay within six months, instead of 12, on their previous year's income. This will put $4,500,000,000 sooner into the treasury in the next five years, sponsors claimed.

Detroit Fair Expects Gate Near Million

Opening Day Draws 25,410 Persons

DETROIT—(AP)—With Hollywood beauties as a big drawing card, Michigan State Fair officials hope to see 1,000,000 persons pass through the gates before the fair ends Sept. 10.

Such a figure would better last year's record total of 787,000. The 101st fair opened yesterday here. Opening day attendance was announced as 25,410 persons with $15,410 realized in admissions. Rain, which fell at times through the day, hurt attendance, fair officials said. Last year 20,402 attended on opening day and paid admissions totaled $18,800.

Buses From Peninsula

To reach the million figure, officials have been taking their fair advertising and promotion in to areas at least 150 miles from Detroit—as well as Detroit and surrounding towns.

"We're going to get to all of the state from now on and encourage them to see this state fair—the country's oldest," said Clarence H. Duseberry, director of transportation.

Duseberry, who did similar work for the Chicago and New York world fairs, said arrangements had been made for at least 100 special buses to come to Detroit, one from as far away as Calumet on the Keweenaw peninsula in uppermost Michigan.

The fair got off with a bang yesterday—17 of them to be exact. A 17-bomb salute was fired as Jeanne Friel, daughter of General Manager James D. Friel, cut the tape at the main entrance.

Heifers Scare Betty

With her Gov. Williams, and movie actress Betty Hutton and Carmen Miranda.

Also present were three Michigan State college students who brought three heifers to be photographed with the governor and Miss Hutton. The youths were Glenn Welch of Litchfield, Mich., Jerry Rountree of Romeo, Mich., and Victor Kronk of Goldfield, Ia.

Miss Hutton looked at the heifers and said, "I'm scared." The governor said, as he tried to coax a balky heifer into position for a photo, "they're just like the legislature. Always want their own way."

General Manager Friel said there were more entries this year than ever before in agriculture and horticulture. Livestock entries include: 512 beef cattle, 590 dairy cattle, 205 horses, 794 sheep, 751 pigs, 2,058 ducks and chickens, 1,454 pigeons, and 602 rabbits.

Over $70,000 is being spent for entertainment. Movie star Betty Hutton, Detroit native, was featured yesterday and today.

Carmen Miranda, movie dancer, will appear Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Comedian Jerry Colonna will be here next Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Defeated Republicans Mentioned For Jobs In Truman Cabinet

BRUNSWICK, Me.—(AP)—President Truman is thinking of asking one or two Republicans to serve in his cabinet, according to reports heard by Senator Brewster (R-Me.).

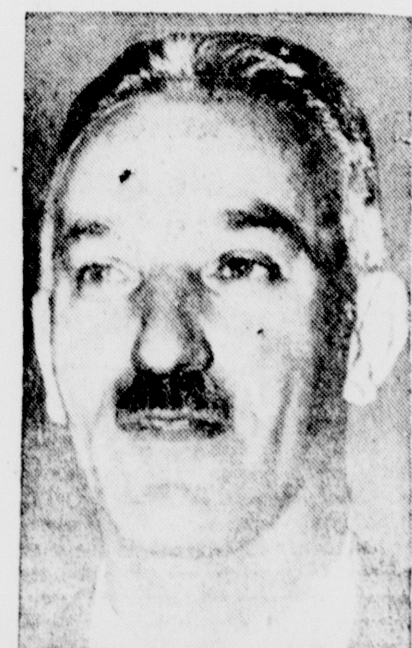

Brewster said last night that the men reported under consideration "have been defeated for public office and would not have the confidence of the people."

Brewster, chairman of the senatorial GOP campaign committee, spoke at a Republican political meeting.

He said that one of the two reported under consideration is John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the state department. Dulles lost a senatorial bid in New York last year after serving the unexpired term of Senator Wagner (D-NY).

Dispute Of Switchmen Settled; Rail Strike Outlook Now Hopeful

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Settlement of a switchmen's dispute spurred hopes today for ending other pending railroad labor troubles so government seizure over the industry may be terminated.

But the prospect of applying the switchmen's terms to satisfy the demands of trainmen and conductors appeared none too bright. The nation's major railroads were seized last Sunday to avert a strike of 300,000 trainmen and conductors. That dispute remains unsettled.

The switchmen—members of the AFL's Switchmen's Union of North America—and ten western railroads came to agreement at the White House last night ending a 17-month dispute over wages and hours.

They settled on a 23-cent hourly pay increase effective October 1. That was in place of the 31 cents demanded by the union in asking for 48 hours pay for a 40-hour work week.

A three-year pledge against any further wage or other demands was given by the union. In exchange for that, the switchmen will get a penny-an-hour wage hike for every point rise in the government's cost-of-living index level of 174. It was 172.5 on July 15.

There were other complicated concessions to the union and changes in operating rules which both the railroads and unions considered beneficial.

Both sides are to sit down next Thursday to write out a formal agreement.

No Automobile Tire Shortage This Year

AKRON, O.—(AP)—There should be plenty of tires this year for all essential civilian uses despite a recent government order restricting consumption of new rubber, the B. F. Goodrich Co. predicts.

Goodrich Vice President James J. Newman said yesterday this year's tire production should top by 10,000,000 the country's 1949 output of 65,140,000 tires.

Fighting Force Of 3,000,000 Asked For U. S.

America Will Block Communism Spread

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Truman's call for a 3,000,000 man American fighting force to block the path of Communist aggression pointed today toward greater spending, higher taxes and larger draft calls.

Yet the plan for a broader mobilization, announced in a worldwide broadcast last night, drew quick pledges of congressional support.

The promises piled in from Republicans, from Democrats who back the administration and from Democrats who buck it.

Step Up Production

Some, like Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), saw the plan as helpful in avoiding a world war. Some weren't sure it goes far enough. Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said he agrees "we need 3,000,000 men, and probably more."

Mr. Truman, himself, said "further increases may be required."

And to "arm ourselves more quickly," he said, we must step up sharply production of guns, tanks, planes and other military equipment, increase stockpiles of vital materials, expand war production capacity, work hard and sacrifice, give up many things we enjoy.

With this program, the President coupled a warning to Russia against underestimating American might the way Hitler and the Japanese generals did. We have the ability and resources, he said, and let no "would-be aggressors" make any mistake about that.

Enemy Thrown Back In Korea

(By The Associated Press)

United Nations forces seized the initiative along the 120-mile blazing Korean front today in an effort to blunt and turn back a Communist three-day offensive aimed at seizing Taegu and Pusan.

In the south, the American 25th division sent two North Korean divisions reeling back across the Nam river counting a toll of 10,000 Red casualties.

A divisional briefing officer said "the 25th division has generally reoccupied all former positions held when the enemy launched his offensive."

Farther north, the U. S. Second division drove into blazing Yongsan and pushed the Communists back another mile west of the city. This is where the Reds made their deepest penetration in their major offensive aimed at Taegu, anchor of Allied defense. Three strategic hills were recaptured from the Reds in the Waegwan sector and South Koreans reported the Communists were retreating north of Pohang, vital east coast port.

The Communists, however, were preparing for another big power blow at Taegu. They were reported massing tanks and men near Yongsan, where they had made an eight mile bulge in the Allied line on the Nakdong river.

The Red thrust near Yongsan still left exposed the right flank of the 25th division. This dent in the Second division line was a real danger but field dispatches said the division's counterattacks apparently have broken the North Korean smash eastward. The central and southern sectors of the division front made contact late Saturday and joined firmly. They had been split in the three-day Red offensive.

Reds Use 120,000 Men

While field dispatches described the battle scene as swiftly changing and at times confused, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters clamped a strong ban on identification of troops. The order came after one of MacArthur's intelligence officers identified 12 Red divisions — 120,000 troops — along the Allied perimeter.

A directive said the order applied to both United Nations and North Korean troops and was "entirely a matter of present security and not because of any reverses."

Lt. Gen. George C. Stratemeyer today threw the full weight of Allied firepower into the battle to hold the Korean bridgehead. The American commander sent mighty B-29s into direct tactical support of ground forces. The planes hammered at enemy concentrations at Hunchon, Kochang, and Chinju. Fighters and light bombers swept in from bases on Japan in close support of ground troops. Enemy casualties were heavy and B-29 crews reported their pinpoint bombing of Red forces had "excellent results."

Medical Men To Be Drafted

Bill Covers Doctors Who Trained Free

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The bill to draft physicians, dentists and other medical specialists now awaits President Truman's signature. Congress completed action on it yesterday.

The measure requires the medical men to register for the draft if they are under 51 years of age. If drafted, they would be liable for 21 months' service.

If they are in the reserves, or join them now, they will not be drafted. Members of the reserves, however, can be called to active duty at any time.

If they volunteer for duty with the armed services, the medical men will be entitled to $100-a-month extra pay—a bonus set up by Congress two years ago to interest them in military service. If they are drafted, however, they do not receive the extra $100 pay.

The bill is designed to enroll 5,600 doctors and 3,000 dentists who received training at government expense during World War II and who saw little or no active service. If the armed forces find they cannot get enough men in this category, they will then draft men who were trained at government expense and had less than 21 months of active service. Other categories follow after that.

Over 90,000 Idle In Labor Scraps

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes hit hard at some of the nation's important segments of industry today with strikes and threatened strikes.

In three industries alone—electrical, farm implement and wallpaper—more than 90,000 workers were made idle by strikes.

Nearly 23,000 CIO workers at General Electric Co. in New York and Massachusetts plants already are on strike and 35,000 are scheduled to quit work Tuesday in plants across the country.

More than 60,000 farm equipment workers are on strike, including nearly 50,000 at 19 International Harvester company plants. Two unions are involved, the CIO United Auto Workers and the Farm Equipment-United Electrical Union. They are negotiating separately in a wage dispute.

Another farm implement company was struck yesterday as workers quit work in Deere & Co. plants in Illinois and Iowa in a wage dispute. Three of the plants are in East Moline, Ill., where 4,000 workers struck. Other plants in Ottumwa, Dubuque, Waterloo and Des Moines, employing about 9,000, were picketed. The strike

Controls Come On Home Front

Installment Buying Terms To Tighten

By CHARLES M. MOLONY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Government agencies today awaited a signal from the White House to put into effect plans for using—on a limited scale—the strong homefront economy control powers provided by Congress.

The agencies indicated they will start issuing a flow of control orders after President Truman signs the legislation, due early next week.

The first steps they expect to take are to:

(1) Tighten up on installment buying terms, (2) give priorities for scarce, essential materials to holders of military contracts, and (3) limit inventories of basic materials to prevent hoarding and assure wider distribution of supplies.

Meantime, President Truman told the nation that building up the country's defenses "will require hard work and sacrifices by all of us."

In his radio address to the people on the Korean war last night, Mr. Truman said:

"We shall have to make many changes in our way of living and working here at home."

Lady Minister Feeds 300 Boys And Girls Stranded In Europe

LUXEMBOURG —(AP)—Mrs. Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg, came to the aid today of 300 stranded American boys and girls here on a European tour. She opened a free lunch counter for them at the U. S. legation.

The boys and girls can't get a plane home. They were informed the Korean situation has caused a shortage in available air transport.

Mrs. Mesta provided the youths with free baked beans, ham sandwiches, apple pie and coffee and assured them that their government would take up the matter of getting them home.

Army Opens Attack On Philippine Huks

MANILA—(AP)—A combat team of the Philippines army, aided by planes and artillery, today opened an attack on Communist Hukbalahap hideouts in the Banahao Mountains, south of Manila.

The Huks raided 12 towns of central Luzon last week, leaving 88 dead, seven missing and many wounded.

A group of Huks attacked an army truck Friday night on the Manila-Batangas highway, wounding three Philippine soldiers.

Proposal To Lift Tariff On Copper Killed In Senate

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Senate yesterday killed a proposal to suspend the two-cent-a-pound tariff on copper.

The proposal by Senators McMahon and Benton, Connecticut Democrats, was tabled 52 to 22. They had offered it as an amendment to the $4,508,000,000 tax bill.

The copper duty was suspended during World War II, but was restored last July 1, when Congress failed to renew the suspension act.

Earlier President Truman had expressed hope the Senate would vote to suspend the tariff again as a way to combat "malicious propaganda" spread by Latin American Communists. The House already had voted a year's suspension.

Ore Shipping Hits Wartime Pace; Loadings Are Biggest Since 1944

Iron ore loadings at Escanaba in August were the largest for any month since September in the war-time year of 1944, reflecting the nation's booming demand for steel.

Mines from Mesabi to the Mesabi range are producing at capacity, and iron ports like Escanaba and Duluth are loading the Great Lakes fleet of ore carriers faster than at any time in the past six years.

The race for ore is on full scale. Balked by ice for a month - late start of navigation, the carriers are still 10,000,000 tons short of last year in the all-out effort to meet the 1950 quota.

Race Against Time
With the terrific demand for steel it is possible the carriers will continue operating this year far into December, possibly establishing a new deadline record.

Last year the last boat cleared from Escanaba on Dec. 12, about the latest closing on record. This year the shipping season is expected to be extended even longer, depending on the weather.

"If the weather is good and navigation continues late in the year it looks like we will hit about 4,800,000 tons at Escanaba—the biggest year since 1944," Lee McMillan, Chicago & North Western dock agent, said today.

Last year 3,816,109 tons of ore were shipped from Escanaba for the season.

Far Above Last Year
Despite the month-late start of navigation in 1950, the total tonnage loaded from the two C&NW docks at Escanaba to Sept. 1 is already far above the tonnage for a similar date in 1949, McMillan reported.

For the past month of August ore loadings here were 202,971 tons above the same month last year; and for the season to Sept. 1 the figure for 1950 was 3,192,951 compared to 2,007,757 last year, an increase of 290,194 tons.

The comparative figures for August were as follows: August 1950—792,854 tons; August 1949—589,883 tons.

If the total tonnage moved from Escanaba hits 4,800,000 in 1950, as anticipated, it will exceed the 1949 total by nearly 1,000,000 tons. The 1949 total was 3,816,109.

September Another Peak
McMillan said all indications are that September will be another peak month, as was August.

Boats are coming in at the rate of three or four a day and arrivals of ore carriers are scheduled as far ahead as Sept. 15. Last year a total of 443 boats were loaded with ore at Escanaba. To date more than 340 boats have already been loaded at the two C&NW docks.

Ore from the Gogebic iron range, formerly routed to Ashtabula for loading, continues to come to Escanaba and "it looks like we will get it for the rest of this year," McMillan said. "It may be that we will also get Gogebic ore next year," he added.

Keep Them Moving
With about three and one-half months of sailing weather ahead (barring unfavorable conditions in early winter) the Great Lakes ore fleet hopes to meet its 1950 quota.

Yet to Aug. 29 the ore loadings from all U. S. ports totaled only 44,387,695 tons, just 10,627,320 tons short of the 54,855,185 tons loaded to that date last year.

Recognizing that every delay results in lost tonnage the Lake Superior Iron Ore association and the Lake Carriers association have organized a committee to expedite the movement of iron ore from the mines to the smelters.

Mining companies, railroads and vessel operators are working together to avoid delays in the movement of ore and other bulk cargoes on the Great Lakes. The committee will function along the lines of the wartime Office of Defense Transportation.

Escanaba Twp. Schools Will Open Sept. 6

Schools in Escanaba township will open Wednesday, Sept. 6, with an enrollment of about 224 students.

Two new teachers have been engaged for the faculty of six in the four schools. Mrs. May Hakes of Wilson will teach this year at Carroll school and Toivo Kanerva of Rock will teach at Sovey school.

Other teachers in the township schools are Mrs. Helen Temby and Mrs. Elhel Flanagan who teach in the upper and lower rooms at Nadon school, and Mrs. Irene Vandenberg and Mrs. Lea Sharkey who teach at Howard school.

One new bus driver, Bartley Bittner, has been hired to replace Eugene Tourangeau. Other drivers are Fred Maranger and William Taylor.

All schools have been cleaned and floors in the buildings have been resanded. Escanaba township will vote sometime this fall on plans to construct a new school.

Powers Discontinues Fast Time Monday

The village of Powers and township of Spalding are going back to one-time standard Monday at 2 a. m., when central standard time will be uniformly observed. Officially, both the village and township have been on central standard time, but some of the business establishments, Pincrest Sanatorium and the postoffice have been on daylight (fast) time.

The difference in time has been in effect since last April and stems from the decision of the sanatorium to invoke eastern time. The sanatorium acted because all other counties in the U. P., excepting Menominee and Gogebic were either on eastern time permanently or were invoking daylight time for the summer.

SEC Official Gives Warning

Mutual Fund Parley Hears Talk By Cook

NEW YORK—Donald C. Cook, vice-chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, cited mutual investment funds as a "useful instrument" but warned the industry on abuses in advertising practices.

Speaking before the second annual Mutual Fund Conference, Mr. Cook told the 500 delegates to the conference that "their function can be such as to play a useful part in any comprehensive investment program."

"The problem is," he declared, "to make the practice consistent with the theory and not permit the selfish insistence of some on quick and easy returns for the present, to divert the industry from concentrating on realization of highly desirable and entirely attainable long-term goals."

Mr. Cook said, "there is an increased tendency by some open-end (mutual fund) companies which have a large portion of their portfolios invested in a particular or in several related industries, to use literature 'padding' the general industry concerned, thereby implying that whatever spectacular advantages are foreseen for the industry will automatically be reflected in increased values for the investment company shares."

"Such statements are misleading," he continued, "unless fully qualified by adequate explanation that what an industry may do generally has no automatic direct effect on the value of investment company shares invested therein, since what individual managements within an industry may accomplish is not necessarily comparable to what the investment company involved may accomplish."

The SEC's desire for correction, he asserted, arose not from hostility to the industry, but "rather from the conviction that this instrument should be properly used and preserved."

"I believe that investment companies, if wisely cared for, can ultimately become institutionalized—though they can never serve the same purposes as savings banks, building and loan associations, insurance companies and government bonds. Nevertheless, their function can be such as to play a useful part in any comprehensive investment program."

Other speakers included H. A. Feldmann and William T. Cobb, vice-presidents of Distributors Groups, Inc., who pointed out that the principal market for mutual

Other marching units in the parade will include Escanaba military groups and members of unions. The parade begins at Third avenue north and Stephenson avenue.

A variety of contests will be run off in Pioneer Trail park beginning at 1 p. m., and many prizes will be offered. Additional prizes will be given for the two best decorated bicycles and the two best costumes in the parade.

Florida Schools Teach Banking

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (AP) — Florida schools are adding practical instruction in banking to mathematics courses.

The youngsters will start in the seventh grade with the purpose and use of bank books. Instruction will continue through the 12th grade, when the course will get around to a discussion of investments.

The Florida Bankers' Association led a campaign to make instruction in banking part of the school program.

Modern Home Buyers Are Getting Breaks

CHICAGO — (AP) — If you don't think it's easy to buy a home today, consider Grandpa's day. The United States Savings & Loan League, citing current interest rates of 4 1/2 to 5 per cent—4 per cent for veterans—points out that in 1900 the typical rate was 8 to 10 per cent.

From 1900 to 1925 the usual mortgage expired in one to five years. Today terms run 15 to 20 years and in some cases 25 and 30 years. In the old days the borrower was expected to pay the full principal of the debt on the expiration date. Today principal and interest are paid off in equal monthly installments.

30½ Million Await School

Buying For Pupils Boosts Business

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP)—A record 30½ million boys and girls are getting ready to enroll in the nation's grade and high schools. And the nation's merchants have been doing a fine business outfitting them. Some report that dollar volume of back-to-school buying is running from 10 to 35 per cent ahead of last year.

Business may be even better in the years ahead. The school age population may increase by more than one-third in the next ten years and not reach its peak before 1964, as the record baby crops of the war and postwar years pass through the primary and secondary schools.

Buy For Entire Year

This year's booming sales of children's clothing isn't called war scare buying. But many stores report that parents are buying with the entire school year in mind, instead of just the first few months. And many stores say back-to-school buying started at least two weeks earlier this year.

Only a few parents appear to fear possible clothing shortages later, but many seem to fear future price increase, retailers say, especially in wool clothing.

Wool Prices Up

A whole new generation of boys may be coming along who will never know anything but rayon suits, according to some of the more fanciful looking-aheaders down on clothing row. They say that boys' wear manufacturers, always keenly price-conscious, are particularly worried by the skyrocketing prices of wool this week at the Australian auctions.

And some fear that in the years ahead wool may become too expensive for boys' suits.

Others, taking a shorter view, predict that the rising price of fabrics and increasing labor costs will mean a 10 per cent wholesale price hike in boys' clothing after Labor Day, and that next spring's prices will be 20 per cent higher than last.

Dedication Of St. Charles Church Organ Sunday

RAPID RIVER—Blessing and dedication of the new electric pipe organ at St. Charles church in Rapid River, a gift to the parish, will take place Sunday evening at 7:30 at the church.

The organ was donated to the church by Detroit friends who do not wish their names revealed in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schloss and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jarr.

Guests of honor at the ceremonies will be Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Peterson of Gladstone, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Azar of Detroit and members of the clergy of the diocese.

The program of the dedication announced by Father Anthony Schloss, pastor, is:

Blessing of the organ.
Address, "The Place of Music in the Church," Rev. Fr. Andrew Schulek, Trenary.

Organ concert by Mrs. J. R. Davidson, Crystal Falls.
Schubert's "Ave Maria," Dale Teinert, parish organist.

Selections by St. Cecilia's choir of Escanaba, under direction of Rev. Fr. Louis Cappel.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.
Finale, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Clergymen who will attend are Rev. Francis Schenker of Manitowish, Rev. Andrew Schulek of Trenary, Rev. Gabriel Waraxa of Perronville, Rev. Lester Bourgeois of Nadeau, Rev. Arnold Thompson, Rev. Donald Hartman, Rev. Martin Melican, Rev. Clifford Nadeau, Rev. Louis Cappel, Rev. Casimir Mark and Rev. Patrick McArron of Escanaba, Rev. Chester Franek of Escanaba, Rev. Ray Przybylski of Vuklan, Rev. Joseph Kichak of Engadine, and Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Peterson of Gladstone.

Others attending will be Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Avar and Mrs. Anna Przybylski of Detroit, sisters of Father Schloss; Mr. and Mrs. George LaChapelle of Escanaba and Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Davidson of Crystal Falls.

City Tax Valuations Increase $4½ Million In Past Ten Years

Tax valuations in the city of Escanaba have increased over $4½ million in the past 10 years, records compiled at the city hall reveal.

A considerable portion of the increase reflects the re-appraisal made by the J. M. Clemishaw company of Cleveland in 1945, and the recent increase of assessed valuations from 73 per cent to 80 per cent of the 1941 property valuations. New buildings and building improvements also account for part of the increase.

The 1950 tax valuation of Escanaba is $12,525,644—$221,000 less than the equalized value set by the county board of supervisors. In 1940, the city's assessed valuation was $7,927,755.

1950 Tax Rate $15.20

The 1950 city tax rate of $15.20 was fixed to provide $190,389.99 in tax revenue for the city. In 1940 the tax rate was $14.64 and was to provide $116,061.62 in revenue. Thus though the tax rate has increased only 56 cents per thousand in the past 10 years, the city's revenues have increased by $74,328.37.

In the past 10 years the total tax rate for Escanaba residents, including city, state, county and school taxes, has decreased 44 cents per thousand.

From 1920 to 1939 the city's assessed valuations were consistently in the $8,000,000 bracket, varying from a low of $8,008,344.47 in 1935 to a high of $8,605,544 in 1927. Total tax rates in those years ranged from a high of $52.96 per thousand in 1922 to a low of $33.39 in 1934. Since 1932 the total tax rate in the city has been under $37 per thousand.

Lowest In 1932

The city's tax rate, exclusive of state, county and school taxes, was lowest in 1932 when the assessment was $12.65 per thousand. The assessed valuation that year

Labor Department Cites Changes In Child Labor Laws

With the opening of schools generally scheduled within the next few days, employers were reminded today that the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards act differ greatly from those in effect at this time last year.

The notice came from William S. Singley, Cleveland, regional director of the wage and hour and public contracts divisions, U. S. Department of Labor. Singley is in charge of enforcing the law in Ohio and Michigan.

"The Fair Labor Standards Act now prohibits the employment of children under 16 in most jobs in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, including closely related processes or occupations directly essential to production," Singley said. Formerly it merely prohibited shipment of goods in commerce from an establishment which had employed under-age children within 30 days of such shipment.

Another important change, effective last January, makes it illegal to employ children under 16 on farms producing goods for interstate commerce if school is in session in the district where the employed children are living.

Although the minimum age for most jobs under the Fair Labor Standards act is 16 and in hazardous occupations it is 18, Singley said, 14- and 15-year olds may be employed in a limited number of jobs, but then only under very rigid restrictions as to time and hours of employment.

"For example," he said, "Fourteen- and fifteen-year old children may not be employed for more than three hours a day nor more than 18 hours a week when school is in session, and not more than 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week when school is not in session, nor between the hours of 7 p. m. and 7 a. m."

Fifty-eight vacation working permits and eight full-time working permits have been issued here since April, 1950. Permits are issued from the office of E. E. Edick, high school principal, and must be renewed early in September each year.

Singley emphasized that the child labor protective provisions have been included in both federal and state laws in the interest of the children themselves and in the interest of the nation as a whole. "Such laws have been enacted to encourage youth to attend school and in other ways to prepare for adult life," he said.

"It is important for the future welfare of this nation that we do all we can to bring pressure to bear on teen-age youngsters to return to school. There were 3 million of them employed this summer. It will be a tragic loss to the nation if most of them do not return to their studies when schools open in the next few days," he said.

Your Car IS Loaded With TNT During Long Labor Day Weekend

THE National Safety Council predicts itself be able to keep the traffic toll from reaching its highest total in the state's history. But you can act to protect your own life and to you, that should be the important objective.

If you were driving a car loaded with dynamite, you would certainly drive with the most extreme caution. You would drive slowly and you would be certain that when you approached an intersection or another car that you would have your machine completely in control, so that you could stop quickly if necessary.

Your car IS loaded with dynamite this weekend. The risk of motoring on a jam-packed highway during a holiday weekend is about the same as driving with a ton of TNT in the back seat. Drive accordingly—and be in good health when Tuesday arrives.

The life you save IS your own.

Most accidents on Highway US-2 have been due to the fact that motorists have traveled at excessive rates of speed, probably intent upon connecting with the earliest possible ferry at St. Ignace. Reckless driving has been particularly evident when motorists try to pass others who are also traveling at speeds ranging from 60 to 75 miles per hour.

Prior to every major holiday and particularly when a holiday extends the weekend, there is a plea in virtually all the newspapers asking the travelers to take it easy on the highways. The records of traffic deaths during these holidays, however, indicate that the pleadings fell on deaf ears. Each succeeding holiday yields more traffic accidents and more highway deaths than the previous one.

As a motorist on a Michigan highway during this holiday, you may not by your-

Reopening Of Garment Plant Is Good News

WHILE the closing of the Venus Garment company plant here a few months ago was unwelcome news, the leasing of the building by the R. C. corporation of Chicago for the manufacture of women's apparel now promises to make up for that loss.

For some time, the City of Escanaba and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce have been striving together to attract another needle industry to the city-owned building on Third avenue north. The effort was made in this field because there are more than one hundred women in this community who have the training and experience in this type of work.

The new employer expects to employ about fifty workers at the start. This is considerably short of the number of people who had jobs when the Venus company's payroll was at its peak, but it is hoped that eventually the figure will exceed 100.

Leasing of the former Venus plant by the Chicago manufacturer will leave only one idle industrial building in the city. This is the Worth factory which was opened here after the war for the production of fishing tackle, but closed down after operating several months.

Rep. Potter Supports Nationwide Airlines

REP. CHARLES POTTER, whose Eleventh Michigan district embraces the eastern half of the Upper Peninsula and the northern third of the Lower Peninsula, has made it clear to the Civil Aeronautics Board that Michigan needs the services of Nationwide Airlines.

The congressman approached the CAB chairman this week and explained the air transportation situation to him. He pointed out that while the Wisconsin Airlines provides a good service between Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula, the continuance of Nationwide Airlines is also necessary to serve those who wish a direct route from Detroit and Lansing.

The Press supports the stand taken by Congressman Potter. We appreciate the services of both Wisconsin Central Airlines and Nationwide Airlines. In fact, we need them, despite the adverse report by a CAB examiner who recently made his first trip to the Upper Peninsula and did not get around to see what a large region we have here.

Application by the Nationwide Airlines for certification will come up for hearing in Washington on Sept. 18. Every effort should be made by citizens of both peninsulas of Michigan to give the airlines the support they need to stay in business. Doubtless, there are many former Michigan residents, now living in Washington, who would gladly testify in favor of certification. Let's give Congressman Potter some help!

Lazy Sunday

By Gordon Martin

When you've slaved away a busy week and long to get some rest, then a lazy, quiet Sunday is a day you like the best. It's with great anticipation that you plan to take your ease, and you vow that it's a time you'll do exactly as you please. But you find your loafing program can be very quickly wrecked, for it's soon you are confronted with events you don't expect.

First you start to read your paper with your cup of coffee near, and you're glad there aren't any awful chores you have to fear. But you're told you've got to give the kids a ride to Sunday school, and from that time on, you know your plans were made to overrule. Please do this, and now do that, you're told, till afternoon arrives, and ye gods, here come some visitors a-taking Sunday drives.

So you've got to entertain them, doing things they want to do—even seeing that their noisy kids are taken to the zoo. And no more than they are on their way, some others come to call, and they've got to have a game of bridge, no matter how you stall. When at last you tumble into bed, you're sure a fellow sunk, and you know that Sunday loafing plans are just a lot of bunk.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—At every cabinet meeting, President Truman makes the rounds of all present and asks if they have anything to report. At a recent meeting, Stuart Symington, chairman of the national security resources board, said:

"I think I should tell you, Mr. President, that the stockpiling program is a total failure, or almost so—due to the inability of the military and the munitions board to tell us what strategic materials they need."

"We have been after them for months to tell us," Symington continued, "but we can't get the answers. And it's impossible to stockpile intelligently unless we know what the military will need for war."

As Symington gave further details, Secretary of Defense Johnson's face turned a bright red. The munitions board is directly under him. It and the military are supposed to decide what strategic materials the nation needs in case of war; and following their decision the national securities board is supposed to acquire them.

Symington's report caused some cabinet members to believe that the military's woful mistake regarding inadequate bazookas sent to Korea and the complete failure to look ahead re U. S. tanks are not isolated cases. They fear the military has not looked ahead on other vital problems.

FRUGAL JOE MARTIN

Democratic Congressman Foster Furcolo and Thomas Lane of Massachusetts were joking their fellow-stater, House Republican leader Joe Martin, about his exemplary habits.

"I understand, Joe, that you don't smoke," said Lane.

"That's right," said the ex-speaker.

"Don't drink, either, do you?" asked Furcolo.

"Nothing stronger than grape juice," replied Martin.

"Bachelor, too?"

Martin nodded.

"Then you must be mighty rich," observed Lane.

"The truth is that I'm only moderately frugal, but it's good to hear somebody call a rich Republican again," slyly retorted Martin. "You Democrats have all the money these days."

MONEY FOR CAPEHART

Some years ago the U. S. Senate refused to seat Senator Frank L. Smith of Illinois because he spent $100,000 in a hot primary campaign. But now, in the neighboring state of Indiana, GOP Senator Homer Capehart has spent the staggering sum of $91,961.94 in his primary campaign, even though he had no opponent. Capehart's senatorial salary for six years is $75,000, to obtain which he has already spent $91,961.94.

It will now be interesting to watch how much the "muscle box senator" will spend in his general election, in which he faces a terrible battle from dynamic Democrat Alex Campbell.

The chances are that the money will continue to roll in from his wealthy backers. For Capehart had such a easy time raising money that he collected $99,679.53, or $7,717.51 more than he spent. His chief bankrollers were the Lilly Pharmaceutical people of Indianapolis, who fattened the kitty by about $20,000.

Some of Capehart's campaign expenditures are equally interesting. Though he had no primary opponent, he reported to the Indiana secretary of state that he spent almost $40,000 in salaries for campaign workers; also, $6,239.59 for radio and newspaper advertising, $2,000 for recordings and $74 for "flowers."

Other expenditures included $2,204.15 for "rent" (presumably office space and hotel lodgings); $1,431.67 for general "expenses" and $1,032.30 for "postage." Of course, some of this was undoubtedly an advance investment aimed at the final election and was justified by the fact that Capehart faces the political battle of his life.

Most modest entry in Homer's campaign report was $2.50 for "repairs."

Indiana Democratic leaders are speculating that this was used to mend "one little political fence" somewhere in the state.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

SOME WORDS TO WATCH

Q. Is the "h" sounded in the word herb?

A. P. V.

—I believe there is an increasing tendency to round the "h" in herb, homage, and hostler, especially in the United States. Therefore, for the sake of uniformity, I recommend that the "h" be clearly sounded in all the h- words, except of course, in heir, honor, honest, hour, and their derivatives.

Hereford is a breed of cattle originating in Herefordshire, England, and now extensively raised in the western United States. The dictionary pronunciation is: HEHR-uh-ferd. The Standard American pronunciation is: HER-ferd, the first syllable rhyming with her, per.

On a recent broadcast the speaker used the word heretic about fifteen times. Only twice did he pronounce it with the accent on the first syllable. Thirteen times he said "huh-RET-ik."

No authority known to me sanctions "huh-RET-ik." The correct pronunciation is: HEHR-uh-ferd.

There is no "hose" in hosiery, despite the fact that hosiery derives from the word hose. Hosiery has three syllables, and the second is zher, as in Hoosier. Say: HOE-zher-ee.

There is no "idea" in idea. Do not say, "I have an eye-dar that . . ." Idea is a three-syllable word. Accent the second, third: eye-DEE-uh.

The common mispronunciation of identity is "id-DEN-uh-tee." There are two mistakes: (1) The first "d" should be long like the word eye; (2) the first "t" should not be omitted. Be sure to say: eye-DEN-ti-tee.

Movie producers are complaining about television competition. You don't have to go to the movies now—you can be bored to tears right at home.

AN IMPERISHABLE EPIC of the American naval tradition, and one which carries a powerful lesson for these times, was enacted on Lake Erie 137 years ago today. This famous painting depicts Oliver Hazard Perry transferring his colors, with enemy shot and shell falling all around.

Nation Once Again Navy-Conscious Pays Tribute To Perry's Victory

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

A nation which again fully recognizes the vital role of the Navy in our national defense will mark the anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie, on September 10, 1813, one of the decisive naval engagements of all time.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours," was the thrilling message Oliver Hazard Perry wrote on an envelope when the battle was won, and that line remains one of the imperishable monuments of the American naval tradition.

But there is more than just the story of a naval battle, moving though that is in itself, in Perry's epochal feat in the War of 1812.

For it has lessons for this critical hour and the future. The Navy, when the War of 1812 began, was completely inadequate. Perry not only had to fight a battle but actually had to build his own ship, train his own crews, even had to find men to go out into the surrounding wilderness to cut green timber for planking.

Fast Math-balled

After the war was won, the Navy was permitted by public opinion to deteriorate to virtually nothing. Following the War Between the States, exactly the same thing happened. And the tragic pattern was repeated during and after World War I.

When, as a result of the demands of World War II, a vast two-ocean Navy was built, there was wide determination to avoid the mistakes of the past, but even so the Navy once again was pushed into the background. Much of the fleet was moth-balled, Navy carrier requirements were jettisoned, and in some quarters the hulls of the Navy actually was sold.

But, fortunately—very much so, for Korea once again has demonstrated national defense must be a team; and failure to recognize that command of the seas is vital now as it was in the past could prove fatal.

Thus, after each U. S. war the Navy has suffered from damaging neglect. World War II remedied the neglect with variations only in form. And each new conflict has brought to the fore the nation's insouciance reliance upon seapower for both defense and offense.

Remembering the facts of the very recent past, it does not sound strange, nor like ancient history, to record that when the War of 1812 began the United States Navy's total strength was no more than six frigates and about eight sloops and brigs. England had about seven times that number along the American coast alone.

Both sides recognized that control of the Great Lakes was the key to ultimate success. England had her ships on Lake Ontario and on Lake Erie, gateways to a vast continent which England was eager to call her own. Her statesmen hoped to be able to expand the Canadian territory along the Great Lakes and down the Mississippi river to New Orleans, and thus take over the whole west.

U. S. defense was begun by General Hull who, after crossing the Detroit river into Canada, fell back to Port Detroit and then surrendered without firing a single shot. The British also had been successful in eliciting the aid of Tecumseh, famous Indian chief.

General William Henry Harrison was despatched to retake Detroit as a part of the plan to gain control of the Great Lakes. His position, however, was precarious and his success improbable so long as a British fleet dominated Lake Erie. The few American vessels on Lake Ontario were useless on Lake Erie because of Niagara Falls. It was necessary to build an entirely new fleet on Lake Erie.

Perry Takes Command

The task was assigned to Lieutenant Perry who, despite the fact that he was then not 29 years of age, already had made a brilliant record.

In February, 1812, Perry started from Newport, R. I., for Sackett's Harbor, Lake Ontario, to confer with Commodore Chauncey. It was necessary to follow a trail through the wilderness of northern New York. Perry then made his way through the snow to Erie where shipbuilding materials were being assembled. When Perry arrived, Sackett was just coming, but conditions were discouraging. He found just 25 carpenters at work on three gunboats and two brigs. Another 50 men were said to be on their way from Philadelphia.

Many of the ships parts had to be hauled by ox teams through wild country from that port, over trails deep with mud, and along which many other obstacles impeded their advance. Many of the men in the camp were ill with malarial fever. Others were unskilled in shipcraft.

When Perry took command, however, the outlook began to change. His forceful, engaging personality inspired the men in their building as it later was to do in their fighting.

While the ships were building there came the report that the British frigate "Chesapeake" had encountered the American frigate "Chesapeake" near Boston and had captured her. This news, however, only served to spur Perry and his men on to greater activity. There was inspiration, too, in the words of Captain Lawrence, the commander of the "Chesapeake" whose dying order was, "Don't die on the ship!" In his honor Perry was directed to name one of his vessels the "Lawrence." He selected it as his flagship.

After severely more than four months of hurried, driving work, Perry was ready for battle. Word of Erie had made a banner upon which was inscribed the dying words of Lawrence, and with this emblem floating proudly from the mast of the ship named for the heroic commander of the "Chesapeake," Perry left for Battle Bay, where the Perry Memorial now stands.

The British squadron of six vessels, commanded by Captain Barclay, lay at Fort Malden nearly opposite on the Canadian side. The British fighting force consisted of about 500 men, of whom 450 were efficient. Perry's force was less in numbers, and of these only 190 were fit and constituted a hand-picked rather than an odd.

The British vessels had 63 guns while those on the American ships numbered only 34. In long range weapons the British had the advantage, but in short range the weight of metal favored the Americans. This made it necessary for Perry to do much close-in fighting.

Battle Opens at 1300

The first British cannon ball was fired at 1305 a. m. Perry gave words of encouragement to his men and they started their own fire, but the long range guns quickly found the decks of the "Lawrence." Perry had to take her in close so her shots might hit. After an hour of fighting, however, his flagship was badly damaged. Her guns had been disabled; her rigging was shot down; her spars were shattered; her sails were in tatters. Eighty-three of her officers and men were killed or wounded. Twice the vessel had narrowly escaped being blown up by shots passing through her magazines.

Perry then decided to transfer his flag to the "Niagara" leaving the command of the "Lawrence" to a junior officer. Perry hoisted down the blue ensign with his patriotic legend, and with his brother Alexander and four seamen started in a row boat for the "Niagara." The smoke was so dense that he was not seen until he had nearly reached the "Niagara." Then came a shot that went through the side of the boat, Perry tore off his coat and called the boat and kept the little ship from sinking. As he stepped aboard the "Niagara," he saw the "Lawrence" lower her colors. Perry's gallant ship had withstood the brunt of the engagement and had been forced to strike. To add to his pain, the British, thinking they had won the battle, raised a cheer. They allowed the "Lawrence" to drift away, however, and soon her flag was up again and she was returning fire.

Perry brought the "Niagara" into position and ordered a terrific broadside into the British flagship. Moving forward, he called for another line, the one that followed her in line. Other American ships then came on and the battle which the British a few minutes before thought they won was raging with desperate intensity. Within half an hour, under ceaseless fire at close range, two of the largest British men-of-war were completely disabled. Two others attempted to escape but were pursued and captured. Then came the signal indicating British surrender.

Famous Message

The formal surrender, Perry determined, should take place on board the Lawrence. Again he lowered his flag and hastened back to the battered vessel with his coat of steel and wounded. The British officers came aboard and presented their swords to Perry. With dignity he returned them. The captive commander later referred to Perry as "the gallant and generous enemy."

With the smoke of battle still heavy on deck and below, Perry took an old letter out of his pocket and upon the back of it with pencil he wrote his famous dispatch to General Harrison, using his own as a draft:

"We have met the enemy, and they are ours."

The receipt of the latest message said, "Two ships, two brigs, one sloop and one ship. Yours with very great esteem. O. H. Perry."

Victory was complete and the battle was the beginning of the end of the war. News of the triumph caused national rejoicing. Harrison knelt 4,000 men to the lake where Perry's fleet availed to take them across. The British were at Port Malden. Upon the landing of the Americans, they fled. Harrison followed them to the river, and Port Detroit surrendered. The British retreated to Sackett's Harbor. Perry, with the "Niagara" in his wake, followed them to the river, and Port Detroit surrendered. The British retreated to Sackett's Harbor. Perry, with the "Niagara" in his wake, followed them to the river, and Port Detroit surrendered. The British retreated to Sackett's Harbor.

Perry's victory was a decisive one. It secured the Great Lakes for the United States and opened the way for American expansion into the West. Perry's fleet was the only one to be built from scratch during the war. It was a testament to Perry's leadership and the courage of his crew.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE SELLING JOB—The Upper Peninsula has always had its detractors and its boosters.

Sieur de La Mothe Cadillac, commandant at the French fort at St. Ignace in 1698, wrote complainingly that the climate was so bad for the men at his garrison and the food so poor that they should be allowed an additional daily ration of cognac.

The growing season was so short, he reported, that the Indian corn never ripened. But Cadillac wanted the French king to allow him to establish a fort and settlement at Detroit, and of the latter locality he wrote in the most glowing terms.

Cadillac had his way and Detroit was founded. To this day there are people in Detroit who believe Upper Peninsula folk have webbed feet so they can get around without snowshoes.

Some 80 years ago when the federal government was asked to aid in financing construction of a lock at Sault Ste. Marie, one Washington official sarcastically described Northern Michigan as "distant as the moon."

THE PIONEERS—The myth that the Upper Peninsula is a land of depleted mines, cut-over forests, and poverty-stricken folk huddled around a camp fire is still prevalent in some quarters of the United States.

Within the past few years Time magazine and American magazine both carried articles deploring this poverty-stricken section of the globe.

Efforts to overcome this type of devaluation have been carried on by U. P. boosters for the past one hundred or more years. Individually and through organizations and associations, people of the Upper Peninsula have sought to present the region favorably—if it not always factually.

Sometimes they fought adverse publicity with too many glowing statements, luring settlers here who expected something akin to paradise and found just another place to make a living.

THIS CLOVERLAND—Perhaps the most effective selling effort was in the earlier days just before and after World War I, when the U. P. was called "Cloverland" and prospective settlers were told they could "tickle the ground with a plow and it would laugh with a golden harvest."

A lot of rugged folks, who know that you have to work for what you get no matter where you live, stayed on and carved farms out of the cut-over lands. Today many of them are well-to-do. Their prosperity began with grubbing stumps and eating potato soup.

For them the golden promise has come true. The Upper Peninsula has fulfilled its obligation and disproved the critics who said that north of the Straits there are only two things you can raise—snowballs and hell.

NOT SO ENTRAVAGANT—Ned Short of Rapid River found a 1917 Delta county map, with a message on the back to those who sought a home site or a place to invest capital. Incidentally, there was one less township in Delta in those days. Ensign had not yet been carved out of Bay de Noc and Maxville townships.

Here are a few facts about Delta county as presented on the back of that 1917 map:

"Climate. The summers are most delightful. The days are comfortably warm, but, being tempered by the cooling breezes from three bays, the temperature rarely ever rises above 90 degrees, and the nights are always comfortably cool."

"Winter comes about the first of December, and there are from three to four months of crisp, invigorating weather."

"There is a growing season of about five months. The soil is mostly clay and sand loam and is a quick soil, yielding the most abundant crops. Crop failures are unknown in Delta county."

OR SO ALLEGING—Smile at the above if you will—but we believe most Delta county folks will subscribe to the following, as they did in 1917:

"The people of the county are progressive. They have a firm belief in the agriculture and industrial future of the area. Delta county invites capital and home-seekers to a land of opportunity."

Kathryn Perrin, William Nolden Exchange Vows

Alencon lace distinguished the gown of shimmering white bridal satin worn this morning by Kathryn Ann Perrin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Perrin, for her wedding to William Francis Nolden. The double ring service was read at 10 at St. Joseph's church by Father Patrick McArron, O. F. M.

The lace formed a tiny mandarin collar, extended into a deep insert in back and, in the front of the snug bodice, graduated from the shoulder to form a panel to the hem of the gown. Tiny satin covered buttons formed the front closing and fastened the long tapering sleeves. The full skirt extended into a court train. A cap of lace studded with individual seed pearls secured the fingertip veil of imported silk illusion. The bride carried a white prayer book on the cover of which was a white purple-throated orchid with satin ribbon markers knotted with Stephanotis.

Preceding her to the altar where she was given in marriage by her father, were her sister, Jane, who was maid of honor, Barbara Walsh and Helen St. Martin, bridesmaids, and Ann LaBree of Minneapolis who was the flower girl.

Identical Gowns
The maid of honor's gown of shrimp shade and the bridesmaids' of forest green, were styled alike with fitted bodices, capelets which formed brief sleeves and full skirts of unpressed pleats. They were matching half-caps of laced tulle. Miss Perrin carried ivy and lemon greens and the bridesmaids' flowers were yellow throatied gladioli of shrimp shade. The little flower girl's frock of identical fashion was pale yellow and she had a circle of sweetheart rosettes in her hair. She carried a basket edged in ivy and sweetheart rosettes filled with rose petals which she scattered in the path of the bride.

Mr. Nolden, who is a son of Mrs. Frank Nolden, had Jack Shafer of Santa Monica, Calif., as his best man. Ushering the guests to their places were Ruedi Ginzgrass of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Clifford T. Weir, Jr.

Gladioli and asters were arranged with the altar candles for the service and in two tall standards at the entrance to the sanctuary. The music of the wedding mass was sung by St. Joseph's choir with Miss Eva Cossette, organist-director. Soloists of the mass were Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mrs. Elmer Bonifas, Mrs. Ray Olson and Mrs. Eldridge Baker. At the offertory Yon's "Ave Maria" was sung by Frank Hinn. Miss Patricia Strain of Dunkerton, Ia., sang "Panis Angelicus" at the communion and at the close of the service Earl Owen sang "I Place My Trust in Thee." The traditional processional and recessional were played by Miss Cossette.

Reception at Country Club
Sweetheart roses, larkspur and pompons in dainty china wedding slippers edged with lace were used in the decorative theme for the wedding breakfast for immediate family members at the Delta Hotel. The bride's parents are giving the reception this afternoon at the Escanaba Golf and Country club. White gold gladioli are being used throughout the club house and the white flowers against banked palms form the background for the receiving line. Gracing the tea table with its cloth of linen with Venetian filet inserts and silver services is a three-tiered arrangement of white asters and mums and pink sweetheart roses flanked by cathedral tapers in silver candelabra. The oval punch table has organza ruffling to the floor with swags of flowers and forming its setting are cascades of wedding bells. Gladioli spikes arranged in sunburst effect encircle the bridal cake.

The young newlyweds whose honeymoon destination has not been revealed will live in Milwaukee. For going away the bride will wear a navy blue suit with white accessories. They will live at 502 North 32nd street in Milwaukee where both are employed by the Master Lock Company.

Guests at the wedding include Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Fuss, sr., son, Rudy, and daughters, Ann, Rosie and Josie, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Helfer, Mr. and Mrs. William Helmer, Mrs. Anton Descher, Mrs. Paul Helfer, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilburth, Jerry Kneisel, Rosella Goulet, Bruce Barr, Don Pittlekow, James Kaetzel, Don Wolfgram, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ladewig, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Huntlinger and daughter, Rene, Miss Lorraine Nadeau, Dorothy and Robert Larson, Monica Bielmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Scavlan, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gottschalk; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wuester and daughter Lu Ann and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walters and sons, Michael and Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. Augie Jensen and daughter, Jean, and Miss Jean S. Gauthier, Racine; Mr. and Mrs. William Rivard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gelloff, Mr. and Mrs. John Andler, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lindstrom and Bill Rivard, Iron River; and Mr. and Mrs. Clement Rivard, Jr., and son, Randy, Florence, Wis.

Helen Jane Barry Is The Bride Of John L. Pavela

Pastel gladioli effectively placed with the altar candles was the setting for the wedding this morning of Helen Jane Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Barry, 1304 First avenue south, and John Stephen Pavela of LaCrosse, Wis., son of the Stephen L. Pavela of LaCrosse.

Father Martin B. Melican who was celebrant of the 9 o'clock nuptial high mass read the double ring service.

The bride, who was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father who gave her in marriage, wore white organza over tulle, the gown styled with a yoke of Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls, long sleeves with lace cuffs coming to a point over the wrist, outlined with seed pearls, and a full bustle back skirt which formed a short train. Tiny buttons marked the back closing of the gown. Her veil of fingertip length was of nylon tulle edged in fine lace and caught to a cap of Chantilly lace. She carried a colonial style bouquet of all white roses.

Jane Pavela, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor, wore lavender organza over tulle, Jo Anne Barron and Patricia Schultz of Aurora, Wis., the bride's cousin, the bridesmaids, were in green and pink organza over tulle, and Gail McDonough, another cousin of the bride, who was flower girl, wore a frock of yellow organza over tulle. The gowns were similar in style to the bride's with off-the-shoulder necklines, and full bustle-back skirts. Matching mitts and caps with clusters of lilies of the valley at either side and necklaces of pearls completed their ensembles. The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet of yellow gladioli and yellow baby pompons. The bridesmaids' flowers were colonial bouquets of pink and pink-edged white gladioli and the flower girl carried a miniature colonial arrangement of gladioli, pompons, feverfew and daisies.

Dinner and Reception
Serving as best man for Mr. Pavela was his brother, Stephen L. Pavela, Jr., of Michigan City, Indiana. Ushers were Donald E. Barry, the bride's brother, and Ralph J. Costello of Minneapolis. Mrs. Barry attended her daughter's wedding in a black gabardine suit with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Pavela wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The music of the wedding mass was sung by St. Patrick's Junior choir and the traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. William Ramspeck, organist-director. Servers of the mass were the bride's brother, Roger Barry, and Kenneth Nelson. "On This Day" was played by Mrs. Ramspeck as the bride placed a bouquet of white mums on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

A wedding dinner for 40 guests was served at noon at the Delta Hotel. The tables were decorated with tapers and garden flowers with individual pink and white cakes at each place. The centerpiece was a bridal couple surrounded by garden flowers. Pastel gladioli form the decorations for the reception for 200 guests this afternoon from 2 to 5 at the bride's home. Presiding at the serving table with its attractive bridal appointments are Gloria Barron and Iris Beach.

Home In LaCrosse
The couple after a honeymoon in the North Central and Atlantic states will live in LaCrosse, Wis. For traveling the bride has chosen a grey worsted suit with kelly green accessories. The bride, a graduate of Escanaba high school, attended the College of St. Theresa at Winona, Minn., and has been teaching in the Escanaba township schools. Mr. Pavela is a graduate of Aquinas high school, LaCrosse and St. Mary's college, Winona, and served in the army during the world war. He is associated with his father in the general contracting business.

100 Years Of History Reviewed At Kates Bay Centennial Program

CENTURY-OLD COOPERAGE—All that remains of a once thriving industry in salted whitefish is the chimney of the old cooperage at Kates Bay, where barrels were made as containers for the fish. Rufus Spaulding, points out the soundness of mortar in the limestone chimney, believed to have been built in 1849. (Daily Press Photo)

Pioneers Came There In 1850

Centennial Is First In Delta County

The first centennial program in the history of Delta county was observed last Sunday at Kates Bay, where nearly 200 persons gathered for a picnic lunch and to hear the story of a community settled in 1849-50.

Sponsored jointly by the Kates Bay Grange and the Delta County Historical Society, the centennial program directed attention to the history of one of the most interesting sections of the county. It was the second outing meeting of the Historical Society in Delta county this year and the fifth to be held so far.

The Kates Bay story was told in papers prepared by residents of the community and of the Historical Society.

History Is Presented

Rufus Spaulding, Grange master, presided at the "community reunion" meeting, attended by many persons from all parts of the county.

Among them was Mrs. Stella Bergeson of Ensign, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Sexton, pioneer Kates Bay settlers. Mrs. Bergeson is author of a Kates Bay history that was read at the meeting by Harry Greene, Garden, and was placed on file by the Historical Society.

Other articles on the early history of the community, prepared by the late Rev. H. Heafield of Garden and Mrs. Bernadette Brennan of Escanaba, were read at the meeting. These papers were read by Claude E. Hawkins of Gladstone, Miss Elma Mattson of Stonington, and Charles L. Follo of Escanaba.

Founded By Priest

A thriving community a decade before Escanaba was settled, Kates Bay is now a farming community around the bay for which it is named.

Settlement began in 1849 and 1850 when a Catholic priest arrived from Paris, France, to establish a colony. The colonization failed but some of the people stayed on, including Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Robitaille (now Roberts) from Green Bay; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lapalo. Described as "the very first settlers" were Asel Y. Bailey and his family, including his father, William; and Mr. and Mrs. Avery Dan.

The first school at Kates Bay was in the Oren Sexton house in the year 1869, taught by a man named Martini—described as an herbalist or doctor. The children learned more about herbs and their curative powers than anything else. The following year school was taught by Julia Bailey.

Charcoal Industry

Construction by the Jackson Iron company of the iron smelter at Fayette brought a new industry to the little community of Kates Bay. This was the burning of hardwood into charcoal in beehive-shaped kilns near the shore of the bay.

There were nine or ten of the kilns and a dock from which the charcoal was loaded onto a scow pulled by a tug that came from Fayette. In the winter the charcoal was taken by sled overland to Garden bay and then on the ice to Fayette. Three teams of mules were required to haul one sleigh load.

Fishing and farming contributed to the income of the Kates Bay families. But it was not an easy life during the first years of settlement and many of the families subsisted only because of the abundance of fish and game.

Ballentyne Creek

Indians camped along the shore of the bay as late as 1902. Mrs. Bergeson reported. The last to visit there was "Peg Leg" and his family, who came across Big Bay from the west shore.

In her paper on the history of the Kates Bay community Mrs. Bergeson reported that one of the pioneers settling north of Kates Bay was the Ballentyne family. They made their home on the banks of a small stream which became known as Ballentyne Creek.

In later years Ballentyne was corrupted into valentine and now it is called Valentine Creek—with a large heart-shaped sign erected there as a marker. The correct name should be restored, Mrs. Bergeson insists.

Deaths and Fires

There were many tragic deaths in the community in the early days. Life was hard and work on the lakes and in the woods was dangerous. Because most of the travel was by boat to larger communities such as Green Bay, several lives were lost in ship wrecks.

Fires also struck the community at various times, some of them caused by lightning. Mrs. Bergeson reports that 22 buildings, including houses and barns, have burned at Kates Bay.

Today the community's population is less than it was 75 years ago, but the farms are more prosperous and travel is easy and rapid. The water routes to other communities are seldom used except for pleasure trips and good highways link the Garden Peninsula with the rest of the county.

'Party Line' Was Cause Of Trouble Way Back In 1876

The first telephone at Kates Bay caused "party line trouble" back in 1876.

That year Mrs. Sexton and H. G. Squires "invented" a telephone that would permit communication between the two homes, reports Mrs. Estella Bergeson, daughter of Sextons.

The bottom and top were removed from two large wooden spice cans. Dried pig bladder was then stretched tight over one end and tied on with string. A small hole was punched in the center of the bladder and a linen thread was passed through the hole and knotted to hold it in place.

With one can in the Sexton home and the other at the Squires' the folks in each house could talk and listen back and forth.

This worked out very well during the winter—"but later it had to be removed because too much could be heard in both houses!"

Gruber Attends Banking School

Harry J. Gruber, assistant cashier of the State Bank of Escanaba has just returned from attending a two-week residence session at the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

This was the third year of attendance at the school for Harry J. Gruber which requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years in order to graduate from the school.

The 194 seniors from 23 states and the District of Columbia received their diplomas at the graduation exercises Friday evening, September 1, which was addressed by Gideon Seymour, vice president and executive editor of the Minneapolis Star Tribune on the subject "The Best of Our Lives."

Total enrollment this year was 633 students from 23 states and the District of Columbia. The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states.

War veterans will form a unit in the Labor Day parade at Escanaba Monday morning, and organization leaders today are reminding their membership to be on hand for the holiday feature event.

American Legion members will assemble at the corner of Stephenson avenue and Third avenue north at 9 a. m. to fall in behind their colors in the parade.

Grandma Gray Only 'Doctor'

Served Community For Many Years

Doctors were few and far between at Kates Bay in the early days, but the community had the services of an elderly woman known as Grandma Gray, who was held in high regard for her ability in caring for the sick and the injured.

She would go wherever she was called and no trip was too rugged for her to refuse an appeal for help.

Once a message came that she was needed at Nahma and she went with John Sexton in his sail boat across Big Bay de Noc. It was stormy and waves were dashing over the sides of the boat.

"Are you afraid, Mrs. Gray?" Sexton asked.

"No," replied the old lady promptly. "I know you won't drown yourself, John—for the sake of drowning me!"

In 1881, reports Mrs. Bergeson, oldest daughter of John Sexton, an epidemic of diphtheria struck the community. Many children died. Traveling from one family to another as fast as she could, Grandma Gray ministered to the ill and sent out word to the parents to "put sulphur in the throats" of their children.

The epidemic was stopped and no more children died, Mrs. Bergeson reports.

There were many accidental deaths in the community, ranging from drownings to death beneath the feet of a fractious horse. The Kates Bay cemetery "has more people buried there who died violent deaths" than any other cemetery on the Peninsula, according to Rufus Spaulding.

When deaths occurred during the winter months in the early days of the community the bodies were placed in home-made caskets with snow until spring came. Then graves were dug and the burials made.

Man has the most excellent eyes of all mammals, in the daylight, but his ears and nose are far inferior to those of most others.

Legionnaires Asked To Report For Parade At 9 a. m. Monday

War veterans will form a unit in the Labor Day parade at Escanaba Monday morning, and organization leaders today are reminding their membership to be on hand for the holiday feature event.

Kates Bay was a favorite fishing spot for the Indians long before the first white settlers arrived when the pioneers did settle there they named the bay for Old Kate, an Indian woman who was already fishing along that shore

U. S. Marine Band Leader Is Fourth Since John Sousa

When the U. S. Marine band comes to Escanaba Oct. 6, considerable attention will be focused upon the magnetic leader, Major William F. Santelmann, the 18th conductor of "The President's Own" band.

Major Santelmann succeeded Captain Taylor Branson in 1940, who had seen 41 years of service with the band and was eligible for retirement. For several months before his promotion to the leadership of the band, Major Santelmann had been acting conductor and had become a veritable star in the music world.

The present conductor has added distinction to the galaxy of brilliant leaders of the band. He is the fourth leader since the regime of the famous John Philip Sousa. Back in the 80's the music world was thrilled with Sousa's own compositions rendered by the Marine band. Today these marches and popular favorites of Sousa's still captivate large audiences.

Major Santelmann has fully demonstrated his ability to carry on the traditions of his father and the fame of the immortal Sousa. The music-loving public will have the privilege of hearing "The President's Own" Band Oct. 6 in this city. Two concerts will be given at William W. Oliver auditorium.

These concerts are sponsored by the Escanaba school system.

Build - Repair - Remodel

FOR BETTER LIVINGClosets For Storage VitalImportant In Getting Utmost From House

Whether you mean to build this year or not, there are lessons to be learned from the example of other home builders that will help in simplifying the operation of any household.

Take storage closets, for example. Their efficiency or inadequacy can make a vast difference in the success with which a house is kept running smoothly yet rarely are they given the attention they should have in their planning and construction.

Right storage space, nevertheless, can be obtained in even the most inconveniently laid-out old houses. Getting it is a matter, first, of "sizing up" one's surroundings with the one point in mind, and then calling in a handyman or doing by oneself, the minor carpentry that may be necessary.

Wide, shallow closets are the preference, which is fortunate, because this type more easily can be built on a corridor wall, or in disused space at the end of a hall.

In building storage space, utilize stock doors wherever possible, or make them in sizes to suit your needs, of 5-ply, 1/2-inch plywood. Stock-size screens can be used, for better ventilation, if appearance is not so much a criterion.

The closets themselves can be built of plywood, too, or lined with it, and in such construction

Drop Cloths Necessary
When Painting A Room

The use of drop cloths is absolutely necessary for the protection of floors and furniture when a room is being painted. In addition to the familiar fabric drop cloths, new types are available which are made of special paper material which is impregnated with a wax or resin. They are dust and liquid proof and it's easy to dispose of them.

One architect who has been especially successful in the residential field says, "Closets will be designed deeper than 16 inches only over my dead body." Experience has shown that they are inconvenient and become cluttered.

If you happen to be one who thinks that such matters as storage closet convenience do not loom high in the thoughts of homemakers, consider the fact that not so long ago, in a little town in Texas, more than 200 women visited a home in one day to inspect its ingeniously planned cleaning closet.

The Kent

A Modern Family Home

Rooms ..... six
Bedrooms ..... three
Closets ..... eight
Cubage—House ... 23,300 ft.
Garage ..... 6,200 ft.
Dimensions (House) 43' x 25'
Total Length incl. garage 63 ft

Containing six conveniently arranged rooms on one floor, "The Kent" has a charmingly homey exterior that seems to invite you to move right in.

Measuring 43 x 25', the Kent has a total length of 63 feet, including the attached garage. Cubage of the house is 23,300 feet; the garage cubage is 6,200 feet. At least a 73-foot lot would be required.

Once the door is open you find yourself in the 19'x13'4" living room which has a fireplace in the center of the left wall. There are three windows, one large window flanked by two smaller ones, looking out on the porch, bringing in light and air and presenting, for your enjoyment, a view of the countryside.

Furniture placement shouldn't present any problem in this room with its large expanse of unbroken wall space. A door in the side wall leads to the den or bedroom; another doorway opens into a hall connecting with the bedrooms and bath. A stairway to the cellar is located with its entrance opening in the hallway.

In the right hand corner of the rear wall is the doorway to the dining room. One good sized window provides light and ventilation for this room which measures 10'x9'. Two built-in china closets will provide ample storage, and display area for your best china ware and beautiful glassware.

Conveniently located next to the dining room, the kitchen is reached through a door in the left wall.

You'll find the broom closet, placed just to the left of the stove, a very handy storage spot for dust mops, the vacuum cleaners, cleaning cloths, etc., as well as for your brooms. From the kitchen a side door opens into a back hallway that connects both with the garage and with the back entrance.

Access to Garage

More and more folks are demanding plans that provide direct access to the garage without going out-of-doors, because it is so much more convenient in cold and stormy weather, or when there is a car full of groceries to be unloaded. The back entrance is especially useful in a home where there are youngsters, and, of course, you'd much rather have the delivery man call at your back door instead of at your front entrance.

Extending along the rear wall of the kitchen, the working counters are arranged in a U-shape pattern. Ample space is left next to the counters so that this corner of the room can be converted into a cozy breakfast nook. One window, facing out on the back porch, and another window, looking out on the back yard, provide plenty of light for this nook.

Placed in the center of the group of working counters, the sink is located underneath the double windows.

The garage itself, 20 feet square in dimensions, is large enough to accommodate two cars. It has two windows, one in the back wall and another in the left outside wall, and contains ample space for storage of garden tools, screens, etc.

Bedroom Wing
In the right wing of the house are located the two side bedrooms and the front den or bedroom.

Large enough to accommodate a tub as well as a shower, the all-modern bath opens off the central hallway that connects with the bedrooms. There is a large closet, just beyond the bathroom, that also opens off the hall and is back to the extra large clothes closet in the master bedroom.

Largest of the three bedrooms, the master bedroom is 14'6" x 10' and enjoys good cross ventilation from the two windows in the rear wall and the window in the side wall. There is another large clothes closet in the corner.

This closet is one of three in a central storage area conveniently located between the master bedroom and the other side bedroom. The second large closet opens on the 11'6" x 11' bedroom located at the front corner of the house. Designed to be used for linen storage, the third closet opens on the hallway.

Boasting two windows on adjoining walls, this second bedroom gives you the benefit of a two-way view. Because of the long unbroken wall area on the left side wall, this room could easily accommodate bunk beds and would make an ideal boys' bedroom.

Jutting out in a bay, the front bedroom or den is 13' x 11' in dimensions and has an abundance of windows; it has one large window flanked by two smaller ones in the front wall, and another window in the side wall.

If you wish to use this room as a den rather than as a bedroom, you can install built-in bookshelves against the back wall of the room, back to the two large closets that open into the hallways at either side of this room. Built-in bookcases are also suggested at either side of the window in the side wall.

If used as a bedroom, this room also could easily accommodate bunk beds, and the abundance of windows assures you of good light and cross ventilation—important features for any bedroom.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "The Kent" or any other home in this series can be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents write to the Home Building Editor Daily Press and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

WATERPROOFING

Large damp areas on interior walls of a masonry house may indicate that the masonry is excessively porous. Two coats of transparent water-proofing compound on the exterior, or a single coat of cement-base paint will remedy the trouble. Before applying either, all broken and loose mortar joints are repointed with new mortar.

Here's One Who Will Not Trust Former Communists

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—I wish I am a backslid Communist today, so I can spill my insides and tell everybody all—without telling anybody anything that they don't know—and thereby reap a kind of repulsive re-justice that will drive the book publishers to me with juicy contracts in their hands.

It is a simple formula: You play the Commie line until it begins to feel a little unhealthy, and then you pull a Pressman, by first name, Lee, the lad who is singing his heart out in Washington today.

Mr. Pressman is a lawyer of sorts. He is an avowed Communist—professionally for a while, "ideologically" for a longer term. He is a recent fugitive from the American Labor party, an old White House pet, a boon buddy of that tremendous global brain, Henry Wallace. They both were parcel of the pig-plowing when Cousin Henry ran the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Pressman Squeals
By his own admission in Washington, Mr. Pressman, former general counsel for the CIO, has been hooked to the American Communist party since 1934-35. He has squealed, in the best trapped-gangster fashion, on three com-

Driver Unhurt But

Wayne D. Peters of Route 1, Munising, was ticketed Thursday by Michigan State Police of the Gladstone post for failure to report a property damage accident. Peters is said to have been the driver of a loaded logging truck which went through a bridge over Pole creek in the northeastern part of the county on Tuesday. The truck and trailer rolled over but Peters was uninjured.

County Highway Engineer Bill Karas advised State Police of the damaged bridge and the investigation followed. There was still a portion of the bridge sufficient to support passenger car traffic, police report.

Youngest Outboard Racer In Country To Race Here

Kenny Stallman, 9, of Eagle River, Wis., will compete in the outboard race program to be held here on Labor Day, according to Clyde Cole, commodore of the Gladstone Yacht club. Kenny is believed to be the youngest outboard racer in the country.

He started when he was four and has now outgrown the 3½ horsepower motor he used in junior racing and is now competing in Class A where he has done very well against adult competition.

A year ago in junior competition, Kenny won one race and placed in nine others. This year Kenny took a first in Class A competition in a U. P. Outboard Racing association meet near Ironwood.

Kenny's boat, the "Poor Kid", was designed for Kenny by Bruce N. Crandall, nationally known speed boat designer who summers at Three Lakes. The craft is powered with a 9½ horsepower motor.

Softball Playoff
Has Many Upsets

As the result of a pair of upsets in this week's play in the city league softball tournament, the 40 and Owers teams will face the National Guard team in the first play-off next Tuesday. The 40 and Owers defeated the Chevrolet team Wednesday night in what might be termed the upset of the season. The Chevys went down for the first time in this summer's play before the 2-11 pitching of John Kneum, to lose by a score of 5 to 1. Kneum held his own cause by demonstrating out a home run. The Chevrolet had been strong favorites to take the tournament, having won 15 straight games in league play.

The National Guards defeated the Ford team by a score of 8 to 6 to put them in the finals. Most Anderson turned in a masterful pitching job for the Chevys.

Following the game next Tuesday, a tournament trophy will be presented to the victor. A trophy will also be presented to the Chevrolet team for winning the title in the regular league play. The final game will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be played at the city league diamond.

Complete results of tournament play are: First round—40 and Owers defeated Dover Mill; Chevrolet defeated Legion; Ford defeated VFW. Second round—40 and Owers defeated Chevys; Guards defeated Ford.

Manistique And Ishpeming In Football Opener Tonight

The Manistique Emeralds will play Ishpeming tonight in the season's high school football opener at 8:30 o'clock at the Manistique stadium.

4 Teams Still Left In Tourney

Old Timers Reach Semi-Final Round

The Eagles and Phoenix teams will meet at seven o'clock tonight and the St. Joe Boosters will play the Birds Eye at 8:30 in semi-final games of the Old Timers football tournament. The championship game is scheduled for 8:30 Sunday, with tonight's losers playing a consolation game for third place at 7:00 p. m. Sunday.

The Eagles disposed of Clairmont's, 6-4, last night; Phoenix walloped Northern Motors, 13-3; St. Joe Boosters eliminated the Daily Press, 6-4, and the Birds Eye nipped the Delta Frames, 3-1. Semi-final and final games will be played at the lighted field tonight and Sunday night.

Cochrane Quits As Philadelphia General Manager

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—The first shakeup under the new all-Mack ownership of the Philadelphia Athletics was disclosed today with the acceptance of Mickey Cochrane's resignation as general manager.

Cochrane, longtime great catcher for Connie Mack and former manager of the Detroit Tigers, was coaxed back into baseball last winter to sign a contract as coach of the Athletics for Connie's golden anniversary season as manager.

Several months ago Cochrane was named general manager, but the elder Mack, as president and manager of the club, continued to make policy decisions. Last Monday Connie's two older sons Roy and Earle bought full ownership of the club with their father.

A terse statement issued by Roy Mack today said: "Mickey Cochrane has tendered his resignation as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics and it has been accepted. Frank McFarland, Jr., also resigned as traveling secretary and his position will be temporarily filled by Dave Keefe."

Cochrane could not be located immediately for comment. However, the change was not unexpected. Cochrane, it had been reported, returned to the club at the suggestion of Connie Mack, Jr., and had remained in the background since he was named general manager.

Connie Mack, Jr., was one of the sellers in the stock deal through which Roy and Earle joined their father as sole stockholders in the club.

Detroit Lions And Eagles To Meet

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Still looking for their first exhibition win, the Detroit Lions will line up tonight against one of pro football's toughest teams — the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles, national football league champs in the last two years have won two exhibition tilts by sizable margins after losing to the college all-stars.

But Detroit coach Bo McMillin figures his charges are due for a change in their losing habits. "We have some of the most outstanding players in football," McMillin said, "and all we need to do is oil up our machine a bit."

Players High on Shibe Park Padding

AP Newsfeatures

PHILADELPHIA — Sammy Samuels, a Philadelphia parking lot operator, believes he can prevent injuries like the one suffered by Ted Williams in the All-Star game at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

Samuels has devised a protective padding for the walls in baseball parks. It is of foam rubber 4½ inches thick and covered with a glass fiber material. Complete installation would cost between $50,000 and $75,000.

To date, only the Philadelphia Athletics have installed Samuels' padding. Both the As, and the Phillies who share Shibe Park, like it. The As' Elmer Valo has cracked into the wall full force with no ill effects.

The padding is fireproof, colorfast, water repellent and will not mold in either extreme cold or hot weather, says Samuels.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have had another type of rubber padding at Ebbets Field since 1947. It was installed after Pete Reiser ran into the outfield walls several times. Reiser, now a Brave, lost a great deal of his efficiency because of the collisions.

Several other teams have installed a similar padding near the base of the walls to serve as a warning to the fielders.

Coach John Viergever will field an inexperienced team, unusually light in weight but full of spirit. The Manistique coach promised that his lads will give a good account of themselves in their opening battle.

Last year Manistique lost to Ishpeming, 6-0, on a blocked punt. The probable starting lineup for the Emeralds announced this morning by Coach Viergever, follows: Chartier and Quick, ends; Weber and Baoladels, tackles; Schultz and Strasser, guards; Clement, center; Eckdahl, quarterback; Burns and MacLean, halfbacks; Hough, fullback.

Only three of the starters were in the lineup against Ishpeming last year, but Coach Viergever said that many of the rookies have shown good promise in practice drills.

The officials will be Dick Schram and George Ruwacht, Escanaba, and Wallace Cameron, Gladstone.

The Delta Hardware will meet Tim and Sally's at one p. m. and the Home Ecs will play the Farmers Union at 2:30.

The Farmers Union defeated the 4-H Service, 14 to 10, last night.

Delta Hardware is the defending champion. The winning team will be awarded a trophy presented by the city recreation department.

Sedgman Loses To Earl Cochell

By Ed Corrigan

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—(AP)—The Australians took the Davis cup down under, but they're going home without the United States tennis championship, another plum they had hoped to pick up in their travels.

Frank Sedgman, Aussie champion and top-seeded foreign entry, was the big threat, along with countryman Ken McGregor and Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt. The latter two were hustled out without ceremony in earlier rounds.

Sedgman, who by his own admission suffered a mental letdown after taking two singles in the cup matches, fell yesterday before the inspired stroking of Earl Cochell of San Francisco, a young man who is inclined on occasions to talk a better game than he plays.

That's why he was left off the Davis cup team. But he atoned, at least in part, by ushering Sedgman to the exit, 7-5, 5-7, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, in a third-round match yesterday.

Tom Brown Beaten

Today Cochell faced Gardner Mulloy, the Miami veteran, who has been playing fine tennis—he has yet to lose a set—while top-seeded Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and old-timer Billy Talbot of New York squared off in another quarterfinal. Flam has not been at his best and Talbot has been playing very well.

Speaking of upsets, where will you find a more upset-minded guy than blond Art Larsen of San Francisco? He dumped Drobny, then yesterday put out Tom Brown of San Francisco, one of the favorites, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. Larsen will cross rackets tomorrow with Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., who whipped Sid Schwartz of Long Beach, N. Y., 8-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Larsen was not expected to get past Drobny. When he did, everyone shook his head and allowed as how Brown doubtless would blast him off the court.

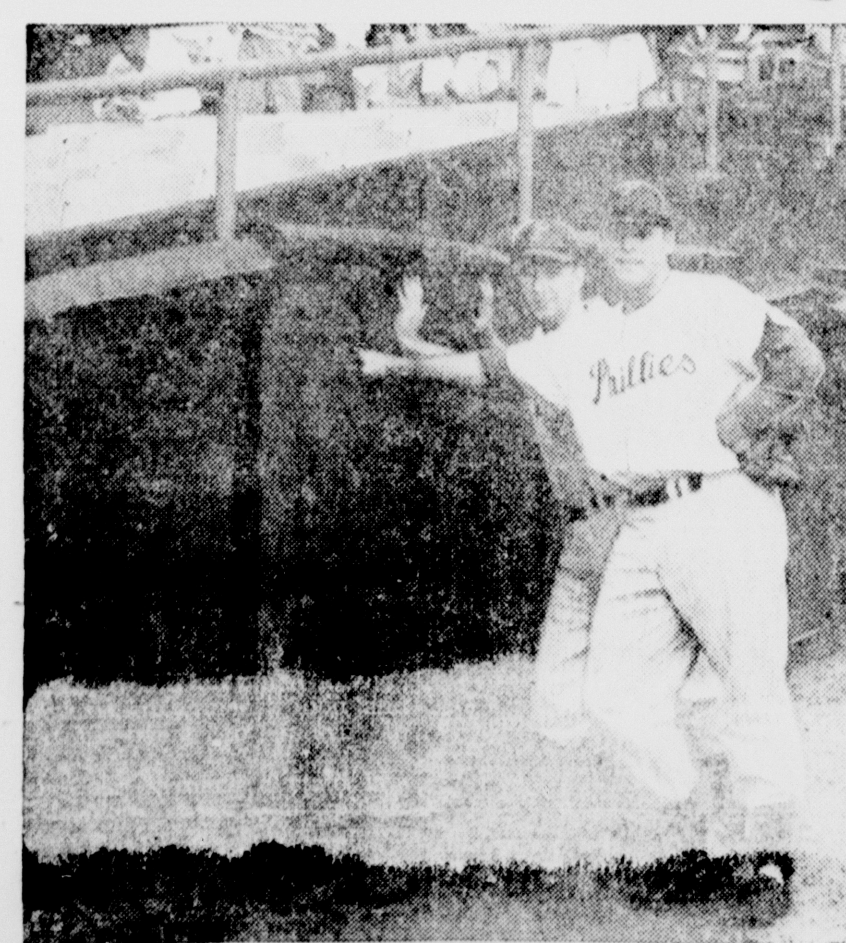

But it never came to pass. Brown was not at his worst, but he definitely was not at his best. Larsen had it and there wasn't much Brown could do.

Players High on Shibe Park Padding

TWO PHILLIES—Catcher Ken Silverstein and Left Fielder Dick Silverstein seem to like the idea of the padding on the walls at Shibe Park.

TWO FOUR-OF-A-KINDS—Two four-of-a-kinds congratulate each other. Carl Erskins, left, pitched Brooklyn to a 10-3 win over Boston Thursday night and got four hits in four times at bat. Gil Hodges, right, broke a national league record by becoming the first senior circuit player to hit four homers in a regulation nine-inning game. (NEA Telephoto)

Tigers Face Uphill Battle In American League Pennant Race

DETROIT —(AP)—The Detroit Tigers began an uphill battle today to undo the damage their pennant chances suffered in the east.

A bit rested and reinforced, they began a three-game series with the Chicago White Sox at their Briggs stadium home.

Hal Newhouser, with 11 victories in nine defeats, drew the starting assignment in the opener of the "do or die" home stand. His opponent was Ray Scarborough, consistently an easy mark for the Tigers.

Detroit idle yesterday, slipped two and a half games off the pace when the league-leading New York Yankees came from behind to slap down Washington 612. But the Tigers now have a full game edge over the Boston Red Sox, who lost to Philadelphia by a 4-2 score.

Manager Red Rolfe did not say immediately whether he would put newly-recalled Dick Kryhoski back in the lineup today.

The two were brought up from

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y.—(AP)—Sometimes it doesn't hurt a football player to get hurt...

Steve Owen, the football Giants coach, can explain it. Joe Diminick, speedy Giant rookie halfback from Boston college, suffered a dislocated elbow last week. It was a painful thing and they had to send Joe to the hospital to get it fixed...

...next morning, his arm still in a sling and a broad grin on his face. Diminick, approached Steve shouting: "Look what I got, Coach!" It was a summons from his Boston draft board to report for a physical examination on Saturday...

...he went up there with his arm in his sling and naturally they told him to come back later. Owen explained, "But he was the first boy to ever smile when he got one of those things..."

...besides Diminick, Tom Finnick, rookie tackle from the University of Detroit, received his notice and left the Giants yesterday... and the situation may become so serious that the National football league is considering raising its player limit from 32 to 35 men for each club...

...it could ruin a club overnight. Owen says seriously, "You can't tell when four or five boys might say 'look what I got' the same day."

Two Platoon Stuff

Another headache for pro coaches is that they're now getting products of the two-platoon system in college football... "the ends are all specialists," moans Welling (Duke) Mara, secretary, half-owner and enthusiastic talent scout for the Giants... "the first day in camp Jim Lee Howell (the end coach) was asking each one what he could do... one could play left end on defense but not offense. Another was just a pass-catcher... finally he came to one player who said: 'I play right end on offense, block and catch short passes but I can't catch the long ones.'"

...Jim Lee was just about tearing his hair off when he turned to Kelly Mote, the boy we got from the Detroit Lions... Mote just grunted: "play either end, either way."

As a result of a player shortage, Coach Jennings Bryan (Ears) Whitworth of Oklahoma A. and M. has had to shift his best athlete, Darrell (main man) Meissenheimer from guard to halfback...

...the only optimistic reaction comes from tub-thumper Otis Wile, who claims: "Whitworth figures 'main man' can line up a right half and play both positions, thus becoming the first Oklahoma man to run his own interference since Thorpe starred for Pop Warner."

Dave Madison, 6-2, 187-pounder had a 6-13 record down on the farm and Lew Burdette, 6-2 and 180 pounds, won six and lost seven. Both players reported in time for today's game against the Washington Senators here.

Toledo yesterday in a desperate bid to get Detroit back to its winning habits.

Both Ginsberg and Kryhoski have been batting well over .300 for the Toledo Mud Hens and both have hit a good share of long balls. That long hit is just what the Tigers need now, so the two young players may see some action soon.

Despite the two and a half game deficit, the schedule from here in gives the Tigers a chance to come back.

Detroit plays 30 more games, 23 of them in Briggs stadium and 18 with second-division teams. The Yankees and Red Sox have less games and will be on the road a good share of September.

Bears To Play At Bark River

Rivals To Clash On Labor Day

The Escanaba Bears will complete their season's baseball series with Bark River on Labor Day with a game at the Bark River diamond at 2:30 o'clock.

The Bears now hold an edge in the season's series with the Barks and are anxious to prove finally and conclusively their mastery over the Bark River team. Russ Hiltonen will probably pitch for the Bears with Ben Kleiman the likely starter for the Barks.

Sunday afternoon the Bark River team will play Stephenson at Bark River in the first game of a best two out of three playoff series in the Tri-County league.

Jones Suspended For Missing Trip

ST. LOUIS — (AP)—Nippy Jones, ailing first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, was suspended indefinitely yesterday because he failed to show up for his team's trip to Pittsburgh.

Club president Fred Saigh said the next move was up to Jones. Nippy said it was all a mistake. He insisted he didn't "jump the team."

Jones, 25, has been out of action most of the season while recuperating from a serious back operation last winter.

Proximity Boosts Total Earnings

WESTBURY, N. Y. — (AP)—Proximity, greatest money winner in harness racing, has another victory and an additional $3,375 to her credit.

The eight-year-old mare boosted her total earnings to $229,251 last night by winning the great Barrington trot at Roosevelt raceway.

Harmsworth Trophy Stays In U. S.

By David J. Wilkie

DETROIT —(AP)—Speedboating's famed Harmsworth trophy will remain a United States possession for at least another year.

The withdrawal of the Canadian challenger, Miss Canada IV, crumpled in yesterday's first 40-mile heat, left the trophy in U. S. hands today.

That had appeared certain, anyway, in view of the convincing victory of Seattle's Slo-Mo-Shun IV in the initial contest. She was favored to win today's second heat, too.

Miss Canada, with side planks split and trouble with her steering shaft, was withdrawn at orders of her owner, Harold Wilson, member of the Ingersoll, Ont. manufacturing family.

Wilson announced his decision late last night at Windsor, Ont. He said it would require at least three days to repair the planing. The steering damage was less serious. Wilson had intended to race again today, hoping to "do better." Then the other damage was discovered.

Easy Victory. Another victory today for Slo-Mo-Shun was freely predicted. That was the conviction of most

Slugger Mize Still Bright Star At 37

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Johnny Mize is 37 and in the twilight of a brilliant career but he's shining like a brilliant star for the New York Yankees.

The slow-moving first baseman has been swinging one of the most murderous bats in the American league since his return to the Yanks in the middle of June.

Mize, who hit more than 300 home runs during his National league career, has belted 17 for the Yanks since his recall from Kansas City.

The moon-faced slugger from Georgia currently is belting away at a furious clip as the Yanks seek to widen their American league lead.

Clout Starts Rally

Mize has smashed out nine hits in 17 trips to the plate in his last five games, a .529 pace. Four of his blows were home runs and he has driven in eight runs.

The big cat pulled New York out of a hole last night by cracking a three-run homer in the eighth inning. That started a five-run rally which gave the Yanks a 6-2 victory over the Washington

Senators. The triumph increased their lead to 2½ games over the idle Detroit Tigers.

Reynolds, who allowed only four hits and fanned seven, picked up his 13th victory.

The Yanks also stretched their lead over the third-place Boston Red Sox to 3½ games. The Sox dropped a 4-2 decision to the lowly Philadelphia Athletics.

Little Bobby Thantz tamed the Bostonians on six hits, including Walt Dropo's 30th homer. The A's erased a 2-1 deficit with a two-run rally in the sixth and remained in command the rest of the way. The victory ended a streak of 12 straight Red Sox victories over the A's.

Phillies Coast

Meanwhile, Philadelphia continued along its lonely way in the National league pennant dash. The Phils knocked off the Boston Braves, 7-3, to pull seven games ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers, who were ambushed by the New York Giants, 4-1.

Rookie Bubba Church, in front all the way, scattered eight Boston hits to gain his eighth victory against two losses.

Sheldon (Little Bobo) Jones scattered nine Dodger hits in out-pitching Preacher Roe. Monte Irvin drove in the first three Giant runs on a fly ball and home run.

The homer was the 29th yielded by Roe this season.

The victory moved the Giants into fourth place over the sagging St. Louis Cardinals. The Missourians tumbled to fifth by losing to the Pirates in Pittsburgh, 10-4.

Pittsburgh's tail-enders broke a scoreless tie with a five-run barrage against Cloyd Boyer in the third inning.

Besides Detroit, Cleveland, the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox in the American league, and Cincinnati and Chicago in the National, were not scheduled.

Grand Rapids Jets' Bus In Accident

GALLIPOLIS, O.—(AP)—A chartered bus carrying the Central league baseball team from Grand Rapids, Mich., collided with a car four miles west of here yesterday, killing one man and injuring three others.

The only member of the Grand Rapids Jets organization to be hurt in the crash was trainer Ray Erasmus, 22, of Grand Rapids.

Fred Rigsby, Jr., 22, an occupant of the car, lost his life. His brother, William, 26, suffered possible rib fractures. Both are from Nitro, W. Va.

Erasmus and Avery Bainbridge, 28, another occupant of the car, suffered bruises and lacerations. They were treated at Holzer hospital here.

League Playoff Plans Changed

Manistique Meets St. Ignace Sunday

The Rainbow league South division playoff schedule has been revised by the refusal of Chatham and Trenary to play a Sunday morning game, as proposed by league officials, it has been learned, and as a result Manistique will play a non-league game Sunday with St. Ignace at Manistique.

Chatham will play Trenary Sunday afternoon and if Trenary wins, the playoff game with Manistique will be scheduled on a day and place mutually agreeable to the team managers.

Trenary now is a half game behind Manistique in the South division standings but can earn a tie with the Cardinals by winning the postponed game with Chatham.

Manistique also will play an exhibition game on Monday, meeting Cooks on the Cooks diamond.

Walkout Grows In GE Plants

Workers Want More Pay And Pensions

NEW YORK—(AP)—The huge General Electric company, already struck at several eastern plants, faces a coast-to-coast walkout Tuesday by the largest of its working units.

Nearly 23,000 of the union members are already out in New York and Massachusetts—3,000 of them from a jet aircraft engine plant.

Another 35,000 are set to walk off their jobs in three days, including 400 at the atomic energy plant that GE runs for the government at Schenectady, N. Y.

The new strike was called yesterday by the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) for more pay and pensions. Last minute concessions by both sides failed to close the bargaining gap. The company offered to double a three per cent raise it granted July 1. The three per cent amounted to about 5 cents an hour.

Union Demands Include:

1. Ten cents an hour over the present rate. (A total of 15 cents an hour including the July 1 raise.)

2. Reinstatement of a cost-of-living bonus.

3. Profit sharing for production workers wherever they were removed in 1947.

4. Three-week vacations after 10 years instead of after 20.

5. Two new holidays, bringing the total to eight.

6. Pay the employees' two per cent pension contribution.

Chemist Faces Trial For Helping Russia Get Atomic Secrets

GREENEVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Alfred Dean Slack will be tried in federal court on charges of wartime spying for Russia.

The 44-year-old Syracuse, N. Y., chemist was indicted on the charges yesterday by a federal grand jury.

He is expected to go on trial here after U. S. district court convenes Sept. 18.

Slack is charged by the government with conspiring to provide Russian agents with secret information on the manufacture of the high explosive RDX.

The government charges the secrets were passed along while Slack worked at the Holston Ordnance Works at Kingsport, Tenn., in 1943-44.

He was linked by the FBI to Klaus Fuchs spy ring that gave atomic secrets to Russia. He failed to make $100,000 bond. A 24-hour guard is posted outside his cell.

Wedding Of Lovers Wards Off Feud Of Two Clans In Crete

GARAZO, Crete—(AP)—A happy ending with a marriage ceremony has been written to Crete's Romeo and Juliet love story, which for 12 days threatened to break out into a gang war.

Constantine Kephalyannis and 19-year-old Tassoula Petracoorgi came out of their Mount Ida hide-out yesterday to be married in an isolated monastery, it was disclosed today.

The couple had been the subject of a search by 3,000 police and gendarmes following the girl's disappearance with her lover in what had been termed a kidnapping. The indignation of Tassoula's father, rich, politically-powerful liberal M. P. George Petracoorgi, threatened for a time to stir an ancient family feud into a war with the Kephalyannis clan.

But Petracoorgi reportedly softened. Following their wedding the couple appeared in this village, headquarters of the search.

Angry With His Wife, Oakland Man Bashes In His Burning Home

PONTIAC, Mich.—(AP)—While his home burned, 47-year-old Clarence Massie bashed in the structure's front wall by driving a truck into it yesterday.

Then he asked neighbors, "what do you think of the nice little fire I started?"

Brought to Oakland county jail here, the Waterford resident told police he was angry with his wife, Martha, because she recently filed suit for divorce after nine months of marriage.

Mrs. Massie had been living at the house, but she was not at home when the fire started.

Massie, found sitting in his truck and watching the house burn, was booked for investigation of arson. Firemen estimated the damage at $6,500.

Belgium's Military Service Extended

BRUSSELS, Belgium—(AP)—Belgium's military service is to be extended from one to two years, an official defense ministry communiqué announced today. Measures extending the service will be ratified by parliament when it convenes early next month, a ministry spokesman said. Conscription also will be called on when they reach the age of 19 instead of 20, as previously.

French Want U. S. Troops Sent To Western Europe

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—It was the French who came forward with the Schuman plan for a realistic pooling of the steel industry of Western Europe. Now the French government has sent two notes to the state department which seek to put some needed realism into all the paper planning for the defense of Western Europe.

What the French say, in effect, is that there can be no real defense for Europe until the North Atlantic nations agree to pool their resources. With the logic that has long been one of their chief characteristics, the French note-writers repeat what is so often pointed out—that the resources of West in men and materials are certainly not inferior to those of the Soviet Union. But, if these resources are not directed toward a

Garbage Piles Up In Detroit

Collections Dwindle In Labor Dispute

DETROIT — (AP)—Detroit's garbage piled up today in a fight between municipal officials and a public employees union.

Idle were about 1,000 garbage and rubbish collectors, about a third of the department of sanitation force. Garbage collections had fallen off a reported 75 per cent.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo said the United Public workers, an independent union, were striking in "a plain sneak attack."

Louis Segadelli, union head, contended it was "a lockout pure and simple."

The trouble began Thursday when 2,000 union members picketed the city hall demanding a raise in their $1.48 to $1.54 hourly pay.

Segadelli said they had intended a peaceful demonstration and then were going to return to work.

But Cobo invoked a state law that forbids strikes of public workers and fired 1500 men for not reporting to work.

Yesterday about half of the fired men returned to work after signing forms accepting rehiring on a temporary 15-day basis. The department of public works said each man would have to sign a pledge that he did not knowingly violate the state law.

Bee Sting Wastes 7500 Gallons Of Gas

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Robert Sullivan, 25, Columbus, ran out of gas yesterday—7,500 gallons of it.

He blamed it all on a bee sting. Sullivan, driver of a big tractor-trailer outfit, told sheriff's deputies a bee stung him near Columbus causing him to lose control of the truck.

The truck crashed through a fence into a large oak tree, and the 7,500 gallons of high octane gas gushed from the split tank car into a drainage ditch. It did not ignite.

Save for the bee sting, Sullivan was unhurt.

Widow Of R. E. Olds Dies Of Broken Hip

LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. R. E. Olds, 84-year-old widow of the late automotive pioneer, died today, exactly one week after her husband's death.

Death was attributed to complications arising from a broken left hip which she suffered in a fall early this week.

A native of Pinckney, Mich., Mrs. Olds married the struggling young Olds in 1888 when she was a clerk in a Lansing gift shop.

Nippon Peace Treaty Pushed

Pacific War Victors Will Talk Terms

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Five years after Japan's surrender, preparations for a Japanese peace treaty have reached a stage where the United States is about ready to talk terms with other Pacific war victors.

Qualified diplomatic informants said today preliminaries have been completed in readiness for the New York meeting of the western big three.

What to do next about Japan is one of the major decisions confronting Secretary of State Acheson and the British and French foreign ministers when their three-day talks start September 12.

Whether the administration favors going ahead with the drafting without Soviet Russia and Communist China—assuming they are invited or refuse to take part—is one of the unanswered questions about the American official position. Russia and Nationalist China are among Japan's conquerors.

But authorities made it clear there is now a definite intention to press for prompt action, and that long standing differences between the state and defense departments have been ironed out.

Tractor Runs Wild And Crushes Driver At Cedar Springs

CEDAR SPRINGS, Mich.—(AP)—A tractor ran wild here yesterday, crushing its driver to death and narrowly missing an elderly woman.

The victim was Jerry Nielsen, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nielsen of Big Rapids.

Driving the tractor in the yard of the Elevator company where he was employed, Nielsen swerved to avoid a parked car and accidentally kicked it into high gear.

The tractor careened onto a coal pile, threw its driver and crushed him beneath its track and then continued rumbling across the lot. A 75-year-old woman dodged at the last second to avoid the machine, which came to rest when it struck a parked car.

September Sizzling In South California

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Southern California ushered in September with record high temperatures for the month in desert sections.

The mercury soared to 123 at Thermal and Indio yesterday, new marks for the month and approaching the all-time high of 125 for the two hot spots.

By the on the Arizona border recorded 121, Needles, El Centro and Imperial 120, Paso Robles 119 and Las Vegas, Nev., 113, all new records for the month. It was only 83 at Los Angeles, but was considerably warmer — 95 — at nearby Mt. Wilson.

more than 150,000 French troops have long been engaged in holding off Communist guerrillas. This undertaking costs the French one-third of their military budget.

All this is written so unmistakably in the sky that no one should be surprised at what happens if Schuman is not given the kind of assurance he seeks. If, and when, the day comes that the Russians move into Western Europe, there should be no recriminations in this country about who has not done what, and why.

Eisler Marked In Red Purge

Fate Of 6 Comrades Hidden By Russia

BERLIN—(AP)—Gerhart Eisler, rumored next on Moscow's purge list, shunned his government propaganda headquarters in East Berlin today as Soviet zone police blacked out the fate of six of his party comrades.

The German revolutionary did not appear at his desk this morning in the former Nazi ministry for people's enlightenment on Wilhelmstrasse. A secretary said curtly that Eisler was spending the day "near Berlin," but declined to make an appointment to see him next week.

Despite decades of unswerving devotion to Soviet Communism, both in Europe and the United States, Eisler belongs to the "western emigrant" on whom Moscow has authorized a merciless attack. The purge was publicly announced yesterday by the East German Politburo, now rigidly controlled by Deputy Walter Ulbricht, who holds dual Soviet and German citizenship.

Two prominent editors, the Soviet zone railway director, and Eisler's own propaganda deputy were among the six banished by Ulbricht's first blow.

The East German police system swallowed up the six as if they had never existed. Rumors persisted that they were booked for shipment to forced labor camps in the Soviet Union.

They were accused of disloyalty to Prime Minister Stalin and lack of faith in the infallibility of the Soviet government.

France Keeps Men In Army 18 Months

STRASBOURG, France—(AP)—Premier Rene Pleven announced today that military service in France will be increased from one year to 18 months.

This step is necessary to enable France to fulfill her obligations in western Europe defense, Pleven said in a major policy speech at a fair here.

Pleven declared France would give favorable consideration to permitting western Germany to have a larger police force. But he indicated continuing hesitancy about rearming the Germans.

Fighting Forces Of 3,000,000 Men Sought For U. S.

ous goal has been an increase to around 2,500,000 by the middle of next year.

The ready support in Congress for a still higher figure—cries of opposition were entirely lacking in the first reaction—underscores another clenched-fist presidential warning:

"There will be no profit for any people who follow the Communist dictatorship down its dark and bloody path."

The President spoke last night from the White House. Mainly, it was to tell the American people about objectives, and why five American divisions — some 75,000 men—are fighting in far Korea.

If aggression were allowed to succeed in Korea, Mr. Truman explained, it would be "an open invitation to new acts of aggression elsewhere."

"Korea," he said, "is the front line in the struggle between freedom and tyranny."

Peace First Goal

The Red invasion, the President said, "has reached its peak," and we now have a "firm base" in South Korea with the next job to crush the invaders. Our forces and the United Nations command, he said, are confident that will be done.

There was an assurance that the Korean conflict will not flame into a general war—unless "Communist Imperialism" pulls in other armies and governments.

Along with this, as separate parts of an eight point statement of "our aims and our hopes," went a plea to Communist-dominated China to stay out of the Korean scrap and word to the world that America wants only peace for all men.

In Mr. Truman's speech last night—another is coming next week on home-front effects—the emphasis was on American desires for peace. It ran through all these eight points the President listed to give the world a better understanding of American hopes and purposes:

1. We believe in the United Nations and never will go back on our pledge to seek world peace and security through it.
2. We believe Koreans have a right to be free and united.
3. We don't want the Korean war to expand into a general one.

4. We hope particularly the Chinese people won't be misled or forced into the Korean war, as the only gainer would be Red imperialism which already has begun dismembering China.

5. We don't want Formosa or any other part of Asia. The mission of the U. S. 7th fleet is to keep Formosa out of the war.

6. We believe in freedom for all far eastern nations.

7. We do not believe in aggressive or prebentive war—"the weapon of dictators, not of free Democratic countries." We arm only for defense against aggression.

8. "We want peace and we shall achieve it."

The Peterson family was presented a purse of silver. Mr. Peterson, who is 87 years of age, was accompanied here by his daughter, Miss Alma Peterson and his grandson, William Lowe.
